Judge Elyar said: "I have invited

United States Diplomats Are Hoping That Conference Now In Progress Will Smooth Matters Over.

Washington, D. C., July 11.—Diplomatic Washington is awaiting with interest the outcome of the fourth Pan-American conference in progress at Buenos Ayres.

Threats of a possible Latin-American coalition to nullify the Washington government's influence have been treated lightly by the state department, which, however, along with other governments, is watching developments closely.

The United States delegation to the conference is under strict instructions to avoid being placed in a position of undue prominence in the selection of officers and committees. Matters likely to give rise to unnecessary controversies and thus endanger the success of the conference have been purposely omitted in the program adopted by the governing board of the bureau of American republics. The object, as viewed by the state department, is harmony of differences in detail, substantial agreement and cooperation along common lines.

The conference is contemporaneous with the anniversary of the independence of several South American republics.

MINERAL EXHIBITS
FOR BIG EL PASO FAIR

Collection from Many Mines
Announces Director
Dinsmore.

The work of "starting things" for the El Paso Fair has begun in all departments, and Charles A. Dinsmore, the director of the mineral exhibit reports that a special map will go out on the road Thursday and stay in the camps, securing exhibits, from now until the opening of the fair. It is the intention to make the mineral exhibit this year the finest ever shown in the southwest, and if cooperation, which has already been promised, shall materialize, this idea will be consummated.

The Fair association has decided to allow the mineral exhibit a building by itself this year, with very large space, well lighted, and there will be a policeman on duty day and night, this being necessary because of some valuable collections of minerals that shall be exhibited.

Special Prizes Offered.
There are to be special trophies, and the one for the best individual display of ores from southwestern United States and Mexico is to be a very handsome and valuable one characteristic of this country. Another important feature will be a complete exposition of the cyanidation of ores, especially as referring to silver. The other rewards will be diplomas, and everything is well worth the time and trouble of making up an exhibit. The railways have granted concessions whereby the exhibits shall be hauled free one way.
The action of last season, making a rate for space for exhibits, has been rescinded, so that all exhibits shall have display free. The exhibitors are declared to arrange their own exhibits, but it is not possible, this work will be done by the director and assistants.

Many Southwestern Exhibits.
It is the purpose to have exhibits from every mining camp in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Chihuahua, Sonora, Sinaloa, and any other Mexican states. It is possible that, in connection with the Mexican exhibits, there shall also be a good exhibit of the plants and woods indigenous to the sections, but this has not yet been fully decided.

There is a good deal of enthusiasm over the mineral exhibit, and as the populace of the entire section tributary to El Paso is vitally interested in mining, this department of the fair should be of considerable moment.

Late.

No damage of consequence is reported by the railroads entering El Paso as a result of Sunday's rains. The rain is said to have been general between El Paso and Valentine on the G. H., and No. 10, which left El Paso Sunday night at 7 o'clock, was held up for 8 hours at Fort Hancock on account of the rain, the tracks being washed.

No. 9 from the east, due in El Paso Monday morning at 7:30 o'clock, was only 25 minutes late.

The train of the Mexican National railways, due at 7:15, was an hour late, on account of a freight train heading in on the passenger train.
